

BookMarked #BookmarkedReadingChallenge

A book nominated for an award this year

A book featuring a POC protagonist

A book you found in your attic (or other forgotten storage area)

A book you really shouldn't have put off for this long

A book about dragons

A book not about pirates, but including them

Reread a book you had to read in school

A book that has been banned

The second book in a series

Your mom's favorite book (no mom, or mom not into books? Choose a friend or family member at random!)

A book recommended by a librarian to you, specifically

A book recommended by a stranger (but not from a blind date, don't feel pressured to read those recs)

A book with a map in it

A book with more than three queer characters

A book with those funny uneven pages

A book with embossing on the cover

A book in your least-favorite genre (branch out!)

A book in the public domain

A book a reader wouldn't typically read straight through (e.g. a cookbook, RPG rulebook, or a particularly interesting textbook)

A book released in 2019

A book released in 1919

A book with pictures

An anthology organized by a person who is not a white man

A book written by a brand-new author

A children's book

A book from a little free library

An autobiography

A book from the first display table you see when you walk into your bookstore or library / when you open your preferred reading tablet's bookstore / some other place you buy books

A book that takes place in space

A book that takes place in a country whose official language is different than the one you live in